CIO-UAW Council Agrees To Accept GM Fact-Finders' Wage Proposal

Spokesman for Company Says GM's Rejection "Still Stands"

Auto Workers Say GM Has Failed To Bargain Collectively

DETROIT, Jan. 13.—Representatives of 175,000 striking auto workers today approved a government-sponsored wage compromise already rejected by General Motors Corporation, as a basis for settlement of the fifty-four-hour-old walkout.

About 200 delegates of the CIO-United Auto Workers' GM council, shelving for the first time thirty per cent demands, agreed to accept a seventeen and one-half per cent wage boost endorsed by a presidential fact-finding committee last week.

They urged President Truman to persuade the corporation to reconsider its unconditional rejection of the compromise.

Meanwhile, in Washington, the National Labor Relations Board intervened in the dispute by agreeing to hear union charges that General Motors, the industry's largest producer, has failed to bargain collectively on wages.

GM Rejection "Still Stands."

General Motors, through a spokesman, said its rejection of the proposed seventeen and one-half per cent increase "still stands" despite the union's action. It offered no comment on the NLRB action.

The union council voted that, unless GM reconsidered this action and accepts the compromise by January 21 the UAW-CIO will revert to its original thirty per cent demand.

The UAW-CIO also announced that 3,500 members in nearly 200 tool and die jobs will be asked to put General Motors work "under the bench" for the duration of the strike.

The same request for cessation of work on GM material will be made of parts and accessory workers "if necessary," the statement added.

The council acted upon a recommendation of the union's executive board. There were only a score of dissenting votes from the 200 delegates.

Ratification Is Required

The acceptance of the compromise will require ratification from locals at nearly 100 GM plants across the nation. However, support is usually given recommendations of the council by the rank and file.

"The position of the executive board should not be construed as evidence we are backing down on our thirty per cent demand," William McAuley, a UAW-CIO regional director, told newsmen. "It is only a temporary stop-gap."

The NLRB said "the national interest" requires its intervention but added that it does not intend to test the extent to which GM's financial position may or may not justify a wage increase.

The corporation will be given ten days to answer the union's com-

Soldier Will Die For Japs' Murder

OSAKA, Japan, Jan. 13 (AP)—An American soldier has been condemned to death by court-martial which convicted him of murder in the deaths of two Japanese on the eve of his departure for a replacement depot to return to the United States.

The soldier's name was withheld pending review of the case, believed to be the first in which death penalty has been imposed on an American for a crime against the Japanese.

Testimony was that the soldier killed the Japanese after drinking whisky, beer and sake at the ancient temple city of Nara on November 24.

Witnesses testified that the soldier was walking in the park with two friends when he saw two Japanese men strolling there and shouted to his companions, "Come on, let's get 'em."

One Japanese escaped but the other was overtaken and fatally stabbed in the head, neck and shoulders before the soldiers' friends could pull him away. A few minutes later another Japanese man was slain in identical fashion.

The soldier went on to Nagoya where he was arrested the following day while awaiting processing for return to the United States.

GE, Westinghouse and GM Reject Proposals for Postponement

CHICAGO, Jan. 13 (AP)—Worn by a week of relentless searching, police cast about for new leads today in their hunt for the madman who kidnapped, strangled and dismembered 6-year-old Suzanne Degnan.

They continued to hold without charge for questioning a 45-year-old Negro handyman who Detective Chief Walter Storms said has a long police record for sex offenses. The odd job worker, who Storms said worked periodically in the Degnan neighborhood, denied any knowledge of the case.

Sgt. John Asher, of the homicide detail, said a lie detector test had cleared the man of any implication in the Degnan crime but that he would be detained for a police show-up.

Before departing the scene of the terrible tragedy for a rest in the East, Suzanne's father, James, 36, declared in an interview, "I know the police are doing everything they can and a swell job, but I'll never be free from fear until this maniac is caught." He added,

"We can then feel that we won't get up some morning and find our other girl, Betty gone." Betty is four years older than chubby, golden-haired Suzanne.

It was a week ago tomorrow that Degnan went to Suzanne's bedroom to awaken her for school, discovered her missing and found a ransom note demanding $20,000. That night police recovered parts of her little body from seven catch basins near the Degnan home.

Degnan expressed an opinion his daughter was slain by a sex degenerate who may have watched the house for some time and had no

Surplus Army Property Was Burned, GI Declares

MANILA, Jan. 13 (AP)—A sergeant stood before a room full of generals today and told two senators investigating surplus property disposal that the army had ordered good shoes, field jackets burned at Batangas base "R" on Luzon.

Col. Raymond B. Oxrieder, base commander, advised of the charge, immediately issued a statement asserting that the only army clothing destroyed was mildewed and rotted beyond salvage.

The army public relations office here reported that Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) had asked for plane transportation to Batangas Monday, presumably to make an investigation of the spot.

The sergeant, Emil Mazey, Detroit, Mich., told Knowland and Sen. Tunnell (D-Del.) that they could get affidavits from hundreds of men at the base if the soldiers were assured protection against court-martial.

Byrnes To Open UNO Discussion Of World Issues

Steering Committee Agrees To Include Question of Atomic Energy

LONDON, Jan. 13 (AP)—United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes will open a general discussion of international issues, including atomic energy, in the United Nations Assembly either tomorrow or Tuesday, it was learned tonight.

The new peace agency's fourteen-member Steering Committee agreed in a three-and-one-half hour session today to include the atomic energy question in the general discussion, which is expected to continue through Friday or Saturday.

Byrnes said he would open the discussion, and there was a possibility he might be selected to present to the assembly the four-power plan for atomic energy controls.

The steering committee also agreed that the resolution recommending establishment of a commission to deal with problems raised by atomic developments be presented from the Assembly floor. The resolution is sponsored by Russia, Great Britain, the United States, Canada, France and China.

UNRA Is On Agenda

Under the agreed procedure suggested by Byrnes, the resolution would be referred to the UNO's Political and Security Committee for consideration.

The steering committee placed a British proposal for facilitating the work of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration on the agenda under matters of urgent importance for consideration at this session of the Assembly.

A Cuban amendment proposing a broadening of the fourteen-member Steering Committee was referred to the Assembly's Legal committee.

The steering committee decided against placing on the agenda another Cuban item asking for a declaration of the international duties and rights of man and nations. It was agreed that this was covered in the United Nations Charter and the section of the preparatory commission report dealing with social questions.

Brant said General Electric and Westinghouse companies and the electrical division of General Motors Corporation had rejected union proposals for postponing the strike scheduled for Tuesday will be carried out.

Brant sent the following telegram to 124 locals and officers directing the strike preparations at the three companies in the name of James J. Mantles, director of organization:

"General Electric and Westinghouse yesterday rejected union proposal that strike be postponed on basis that both companies offer a fifteen cent per hour wage increase and agree to negotiate the remainder of the $2 demand."

"General Motors rejected union demand that they abide by fact-finding board's recommendations of nineteen and one-half cents wage increase."

"In view of this, strike goes on as scheduled Tuesday morning."

Brant said the telegrams were sent from here instead of the union's headquarters in New York because of the tieup of Western Union facilities in the New York area resulting from a strike of the CIO-American Communications Association.

The United Electrical Workers' representative said the strike was to begin at all operations of the three electrical manufacturers one hour before the start of the day.

Allied intelligence officers, discussing contents of the letter today, said it was written by Ernst Kruse, who described himself as the last survivor of twenty-two storm troopers who fired the parliament building.

Kruse wrote to von Hindenburg from Switzerland July 18, 1934, less than three weeks after the purge in which Roehm lost his life. He decried Marinus Van Der Lubbe, convicted of setting fire to the Reichstag, was actually a "madly ambitious" member of Roehm's staff.

The sergeant then asserted that it was costing more than $3,000,000 a month to maintain 10,000 United States soldiers and 19,000 Filipino civilians to guard and service army property which the soldier committee estimated had no more than $5,000,000 salvage value.

The army public relations office here reported that Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) had asked for plane transportation to Batangas Monday, presumably to make an investigation on the spot.

Byrnes To Open UNO Discussion Of World Issues

Steering Committee Agrees To Include Question of Atomic Energy

London, Jan. 13 (AP)—United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes will open a general discussion of international issues, including atomic energy, in the United Nations Assembly either tomorrow or Tuesday, it was learned tonight.

The new peace agency's fourteen-member steering committee agreed in a three-and-one-half-hour session today to include the atomic energy question in the general discussion, which is expected to continue through Friday or Saturday.

Byrnes said he would open the discussion, and there was a possibility he might be selected to present to the assembly the four-power plan for atomic energy controls.

The steering committee also agreed that the resolution recommending establishment of a commission to deal with problems raised by atomic developments be presented from the Assembly floor. The resolution is sponsored by Russia, Great Britain, the United States, Canada, France and China.

Under the agreed procedure, suggested by Byrnes, the resolution would be referred to the UNO's Political and Security Committee for consideration.

The steering committee placed a bill before the new deadline at midnight next Sunday was shared by many on both sides of the debate. Their wage offers were closer together than ever.

New Proposals Are Made

Both made new wage proposals, as yet undisclosed, at the White House conference yesterday. When wage negotiations collapsed in New York prior to President Truman's personal intervention, the industry had offered $1.20 per day increase. Murray had scaled his demand down from $2 to $1.56. Tied into the situation was steel's demand for a price increase.

Some segments of the industry, anticipating a strike tonight, had curtailed operations to such an extent that it will take several days, in some cases as long as a week, to get production back into full swing.

Most companies said they expected normal operations tomorrow. An exception was United States steel, the world's largest producer, where the process of emptying molten metal from blast furnaces and open hearths had been far along in many of its plants. To allow the metal to harden would ruin the costly equipment.

The steel industry had to consider a prospect that it might build production back up only to have to slow down again in case a strike (Continued on Page 3, Col. 1)

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. Jan. 13 (AP)—The headless body of a woman, minus both arms and one leg, was found today partially buried in back of a chicken coop at Lake Lonely, about seven miles from here.

Police Chief Patrick F. Fox said the discovery was made by a city policeman and detective who were conducting a search for a 20-year-old girl reported missing last Wednesday.

Rox said he had "reason to believe" that it was the body of the missing girl, whom he identified as only about $130,000,000 of national income.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP)—Thriving business and many jobs during reconversion have led government economists to like sharply their estimates of the 1946 national income.

Even in the face of mounting labor difficulties, the consensus among federal agencies now is that the figure will run between $140,000,000 and $150,000,000,000.

This would mean a drop from 1945's booming $160,000,000,000 only about half as severe as had been estimated officially after V-J day. At that time economists felt the first full year of peace would produce only about $130,000,000,000 of national income.

Letter Shows Storm Troop Leader Supervised Setting Reichstag Fire

By GEORGE TUCKER

MUNICH, Jan. 13 (AP)—A copy of a letter written to Marshal von Hindenburg by a storm trooper fleeing the Hitler blood purge declares that Capt. Ernst Roehm, notorious head of the storm troopers, supervised setting fire to the Reichstag in February, 1933.

next Sunday might appear inevitable. Both Murray and Fairless agreed to go back to the White House for further conferences next Wednesday.

May Strike "Anyway"

District leaders of the union had made elaborate preparations for the strike under guidance of the headquarters office here. Murray, in messages sent under his name from here to the district officials, said compliance with his order not to strike for another week will "add to the strength of our union and assure the successful attainment of the union's wage objectives."

However, a union spokesman at Worcester, Mass., who declined use of his name, said workers at several plants in that area would strike tonight "anyway." He did not elaborate. At Schenectady, N. Y., a union local representative, 8,000 American Locomotive Factory employees called a meeting to decide what it would do.

The first newspaper in The Netherlands, De Haarlemmer Courant, reported that the union's wage demands had been honored by the management.

shift. This would stop the stoppage at 5 a. m. Tuesday at most operations, Brant said.

The electrical workers had voted last Saturday, January 5, to strike in support of their $2 a day increase demand, and set their walkout to follow the scheduled steel workers' stoppage then set for Monday, January 14.

CIO President Philip Murray agreed to postpone the walkout of 800,000 CIO steel workers after a White House conference last night. Brant said the electrical workers sought a similar postponement after Murray's action, but imposed the conditions providing for company offers set forth in the telegram.

Faurot Will Remain As Missouri Mentor

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Jan. 13 (AP)—Dr. John J. Tigert, president of the University of Florida, said today that Faurot was definitely out of the picture for the Gator coaching job.

He confirmed reports current yesterday that the Missouri mentor was one of several men under consideration, but said Faurot has wired him today that he had agreed to remain in his present assignment.

Tigert declined to name the other coaches he had talked with at the meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic Association in St. Louis, but said they were of the same calibre as Faurot.

Two Thoroughbreds Die In Long Green Fire

BALTIMORE, Jan. 13 (AP)—Henry S. Horheimer said today that fire at the Three Cousins Stock Farm he owns near suburban Long Green late Saturday killed nine horses, including two thoroughbreds.

He said the thoroughbreds were Most Alert, a 7-year-old chestnut gelding raced in Maryland this year under the colors of Mrs. J. B. Bond, and Wayne County, a four-year-old colt raced under the banner of Miss Shirley Adelson.

He estimated damage at between $25,000 and $30,000 and said the origin of the fire was not known. PANAMA, Jan. 13 (AP)—Headquarters of the Sixth Air Force said today that Terry Moore, former star outfielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, has been honorably discharged after serving in the army.

Why we believe that General Electric's wage offer is fair

1. IT MEANS HIGHER AVERAGE "TAKE HOME" PAY IN 1946 THAN IN WARTIME

We have offered the union an increase of 10c an hour for all those making less than $1.00 an hour, and 10% increase for those who make more.* With the overtime that will be necessary to meet consumer demand this year, the average employee would have more "take home" pay than he had during the war.

*Those making from $2,000 to $3,000 in salary would receive 10% increases, and those receiving between $3,000 and $5,000 annually would receive increases of $300.

2. GENERAL ELECTRIC'S RECORD ASSURES GOOD FUTURE PAY

The G-E wage policy in normal times assured our workers wage rates equal to, or higher than, comparable industries in every community in which we operate. We expect to continue this policy in the future.

3. THE MOST WASTEFUL THING THAT CAN HAPPEN NOW IS A STRIKE

Nothing can be gained by a strike now that could not be gained with men at work. Much can be lost. A million dollars a day in wages alone can be lost. Homes by the hundreds of thousands --- and communities across the land --- can suffer. That's why we hope that it won't happen.

Campaign Leaders Will Be Honored At Dinner Jan. 24

Henry W. Price, general chairman of the combined National War Fund in Allegany county and Cumberland Community Chest campaign last November, and Mrs. William A. Douglas, chairman of the women's division in the drive, will be honored at a testimonial dinner Thursday, January 24, at 6 p.m. in Central YMCA.

Key workers in the campaign will be invited to attend, according to H. W. Smith, president of the Cumberland Community Chest.

Following the dinner, the annual meeting of the chest will be held at 7:30 p.m., when reports will be made and five directors elected.

Price, who is district manager of the Potomac Edison Company, has been active in chest affairs for many years and was chairman of the classified section of the war fund and chest campaigns in 1943 and 1944.

Local News in Brief

Chauncey R. Tatnum, now with the general staff of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company, will direct "Through the Fog of War with Raucus" at the regular weekly meeting of the Cumberland Rotarian Club tomorrow at 12:15 p.m. in Central YMCA. Tatnum, a graduate of Johns Hopkins university, has been associated with the communications industry for approximately seventeen years.

A discussion of plans for the annual dinner meeting January 28, of the Central YMCA organization, will be held at the Y at 7:30 p.m., today, at a meeting of the two committees in charge of the event. James W. Bishop is chairman of the committee on arrangements, and Roy W. Eves is chairman of the reservations committee.

Pins to form a Veterans' Counseling Committee will be discussed tonight at 6:30 o'clock at a meeting of the Central YMCA. A temporary committee including William C. Walsh, George Henderson, Charles A. Piper, James W. Beacham and C. William Gilchrist has been formed to press the organization.

Sixty-five boys attended the regular meeting of the Duke Memorial boys club at Central YMCA yesterday afternoon, the largest attendance since the club resumed activities last fall, according to Robert L. Sisson, general YMCA secretary. After a short business session, gym and swimming periods were held, followed by movies.

Mrs. Catherine Lockard, 19, 147 Hanover street, who police said attempted to commit suicide last Sunday night in the city jail by drinking lye, was taken to the county jail Saturday after being released from Allegany hospital. Police arrested Mrs. Lockard and another woman in connection with the reported theft of $140 from a sailor and a bracelet and a ring from a civilian. The other woman was released by police.

Assistant Chief of Police John J. Triebel announced Saturday that three city policemen have applied for a vacancy in the detective bureau of the Cumberland Police Department. The deadline for applications was Saturday night.

Driver of Truck Is Hurt in Crash

Paul Frederick Stumbaugh, 26, Williamsport, a driver for Charlton Brothers Transportation Company, Hagerstown, suffered a possible broken back and cuts and bruises when the trailer truck he was driving failed to negotiate a curve on the east side of Martin's mountain on U.S. Route 40, crashed against a telephone pole and turned over. His condition was to be improved last night, attendants at Memorial Hospital said.

State Police said Stumbaugh's truck, traveling toward Cumberland, knocked down a telephone pole and overturned after failing to make a curve. Telephone service was disrupted by the accident, they added.

According to the police, the trailer of the truck was loaded with automobile tires and two officers were left to guard the cargo until company workers arrived at the scene. Stumbaugh was taken to the hospital in a state police ambulance by Trooper Harold Basore. Trooper Gerald M. Rothrock, recently discharged from the army, investigated the accident.

Two local children were hurt when struck by automobiles near their home.

Six-year-old Carl Harbaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harris E. Harbaugh, 234 West Oldtown road, was admitted to Memorial hospital early Saturday night with facial brush burns and for observation after he was struck by a car said to have been driven by Carl Phillips, Oldtown road. His condition is good.

Judith Bell, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bell, 225 Bedford street, suffered abrasions on the left lower leg Saturday morning when she was struck by an automobile reportedly operated by James W. Davis, Flintstone, near her home. She was treated in Allegany hospital.

Police investigated both charges but preferred no charges against the drivers.

Board, the federation locals will be fulfilling terms of the Smith-Connally Labor act.

Berline announced that the federation board had requested the equipment workers who started their strike Wednesday, to transfer their bargaining to the federation for settlement, and that they coordinate their efforts with the telephone workers. Meanwhile, the equipment men are asked to remove their picket lines from telephone exchanges by 6 a.m. tomorrow.

The union officials voted the strike call in a conference which began after government conciliation efforts to avert the strike broke down during the day.

A labor department spokesman said legal papers necessary for government seizure of telephone systems already were drafted. Officials have made it clear that the government would be unwilling to permit a "total collapse" of communications such as was mentioned yesterday by a union spokesman in discussing strike prospects.

Schellenbach Misses Out

The labor department official, who asked that his name not be used, said the question of government seizure might hinge not on the actual calling of a general company strike but on how successful a walkout proves if it is called.

He said the telephone company reported that its operations over the nation ran about seventy-one per cent of normal yesterday, despite picket lines of installation workers which some union operators refused to cross.

The conciliation meeting broke up before Secretary of Labor Schellenbach could make a last-minute personal effort to keep negotiations going.

Schellenbach, advised at his home of the deadlock, asked if the disputants would give him time to get downtown. The company agreed but union representatives refused, on grounds the federation executive board meeting could not be further delayed.

Pickets To Be Withdrawn

BALTIMORE, Jan. 13 (AP)—Frederick Pfeifer, president of the Telephone Communications Equipment Workers Local 96, late tonight ordered pickets withdrawn from telephone exchanges.

His local covers Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

Normal telephone service was expected to start in Baltimore tomorrow at 7 a.m. Pfeifer ordered all members of his local to report for work tomorrow.

Work a Blessing
Not a Curse

WORK said a well-known writer, is as much of a necessity to man as eating and sleeping. We have the Biblical injunction that man must sat by the sweat of his brow. The experience of the centuries shows that man must work, to some extent at least, in order to live. There is scarcely such a thing as absolute idleness. Even the person known as a loafers is compelled to do something, however little, to maintain his existence. The idle rich, the prodigal spendthrift with his inherited wealth, must do something, albeit his efforts are pretty soft and easy in comparison with those who are compelled to do a little hustling on the job. But for the great mass of mankind, work is a necessity, not only because of immutable economic laws, but also for physical and mental reasons.

This subject is being dwelt upon here for the reason that socialist and other paternalistic governmental lunacies that have found currency as a result of the recent world upheaval, have attempted to drag honest toil down from its pedestal of honor and glory into the mire of utter nonsense. The sooner people come to realize the folly of such a course, of the sheer idiocy of attempting to upset the laws of nature and of nature's God, the better it will be for everybody.

There is no getting around the fact that man was born to work. Not to work is unnatural. Every other animal works in a constant fight for existence. The normal man cannot remain idle and live unless he is supported by others, thereby becoming a leech on society. Work is the real panacea for all human ills. It is not a curse but a blessing; it is the one great thing that makes men and life worth while. There can be no true happiness without work.

The world has no use for the dawdler and the drone. He loses the respect of his fellowmen. He destroys instead of builds. He is a liability upon the community. He may think that he may participate in the rewards of achievement and maintain an honorable place among the doers, but he cannot long counteract the contempt of his fellow men.

The man who does things, who labors in some capacity by which he not only earns his own salt, but contributes in some measure to the happiness and well-being of others, who utilizes his energies and abilities as the opportunity presents, gets the most out of life. Mentally and physically he is far away and ahead of those who do not make use of these advantages. Ask any doctor about this and he will say that such a man, other things being equal, will live five or ten years longer than the man who quits, or lags, or merely plays.

When those who are decimating honest toil, who are seeking to turn the world upside down, and make a visionary utopia out of it, who are obsessed with the delusion that everybody can loaf the most of his time and the world will go on to better things—when these poor fools awaken to their folly and realize that they are damning one of the greatest blessings of mankind, then true prosperity and comfort and happiness come in the train of the ills the world has been compelled to suffer the last several years.

Loan Opposition Is Formidable

SENATOR RADCLIFFE, going along with the Washington administration, is calling for congressional approval of the proposed $4,400,000 British loan, so-called.

But, however strong the pressure applied by the administration forces and however vociferous the propaganda for it, they are going to find some pretty stiff opposition. In fact, Representative Gerald W. Landis, of Indiana, reports that a confidential poll of House members taken before the holiday recess of Congress, revealed enough opposition to defeat the proposal. As to that, of course, time will show.

The various points of opposition have heretofore been set forth in these columns. Some of these—and there are others—are summed up by the "Wheeling (W. Va.) Intelligencer," in eight short paragraphs:

"Because England, having defaulted on one debt to the United States, has proved herself a bad credit risk;

"Because British utterances, official and unofficial, make it clear that the British do not consider this a loan but actually the repayment of money we owe them for their participation in the war;

"Because every factor connected with the loan justifies the belief that it will never be repaid;

"Because no member of Congress has the right to trifl with the substance of the American people;

"Because extension of the loan contemplates the pursuit of trade policies which would encourage invasion of the American market by competing exports;

"Because both England and the United States would be, in our opinion, better off in the long run were the loan not negotiated;

"Because the controversy certain to rise when the time comes for repayment or for inauguration of other steps associated with the loan will promote bad rather than good relations between the United States and England;

"Because the extension of such a loan would set a very bad and very expensive precedent."

The arguments against making the loan as proposed are, indeed, formidable. The chances are that the opposition in Congress discerned by Representative Landis fairly represents the sentiment of the people. If there are pressing reasons, against these, why the loan should be approved, its protagonists have not as yet revealed them.

Some Black Widow
Spider Information

AS a Frederick county boy has been bitten by a Black Widow spider, the "Baltimore Evening Sun" passes along some interesting information about the insect, in which some popular misconceptions about it are corrected.

The Frederick boy, while in a serious condition, was expected at last reports to recover. He was bitten on a foot, causing contraction of leg and stomach muscles. The boy's parents found the spider in his shoe and it was definitely identified as the Black Widow or, as it is sometimes called, the Shoe Button spider.

The name Black Widow," informs the "Evening Sun," derives from the fact that the female, which is black and carries the poison, kills and devours the male after mating.

The Shoe Button appellation comes from the fact that the spider is globose, giving it the appearance similar to that of the round black buttons on old-fashioned high-topped shoes. The fact that empty shoes seems to be a favorite hiding place for these spiders—the Frederick boy is not the first victim to have "put his foot in it," so to speak—makes the term Shoe Button spider seem rather appropriate, though less sinister than Black Widow.

The full-grown female of the species may attain a leg spread of one and a half inches, with an abdomen of as much as half an inch in diameter. Positive identification is easy, the female has a bright red marking, in the shape of an hour-glass, on the abdomen. The male, which is not poisonous, is smaller than the female and has, in addition to red, numerous yellow markings.

"In recent years the Black Widow or Shoe Button spider has been reported in all the forty-eight states. Formerly believed to be deadly, the Black Widow's bite actually is unlikely to prove fatal, although it causes great agony and serious illness. It is fairly common in Maryland, but according to Department of Agriculture scientists, it seldom bites even when picked up in the bare hands. It seems somewhat less tolerant of feet, however."

The Baltimore paper advises people to shake out their shoes before putting them on. To that advice might as well be added the admonition not to pick the thing up in the bare hand either.

The Track Runs On

IN THE MOONLIGHT we see the railroad track stretching away for a little distance and then disappearing in the darkness. Yet we know that it reaches on and on to far cities beyond the limits of our vision. Why? Because we have seen it in the daylight.

Likewise we have our moments of inspiration when we can see far conclusions. These moments are followed by others of darkness and doubt.

Then there are clouds of fear and winds of uncertainty, and the deceptive moonlight of illusion. We are weary and distressed.

It is in these dark moments that we should remember the days of vision and keep in mind that, although we cannot see, yet we know that "the track runs on."

Most of the time, indeed, we have to plod doggedly along an obscure and uncertain path, guiding ourselves by the knowledge of what we once saw in an inspired glimpse.

There is a good test as to when a woman is at home or not is to call her up and if the line is busy she is there all right.

The public seems to have become reconvined that what goes up must come down unless it is prices of stocks.

The airplane age will be grand if there isn't a horn on one of the things that can be used as a doorbell, too.

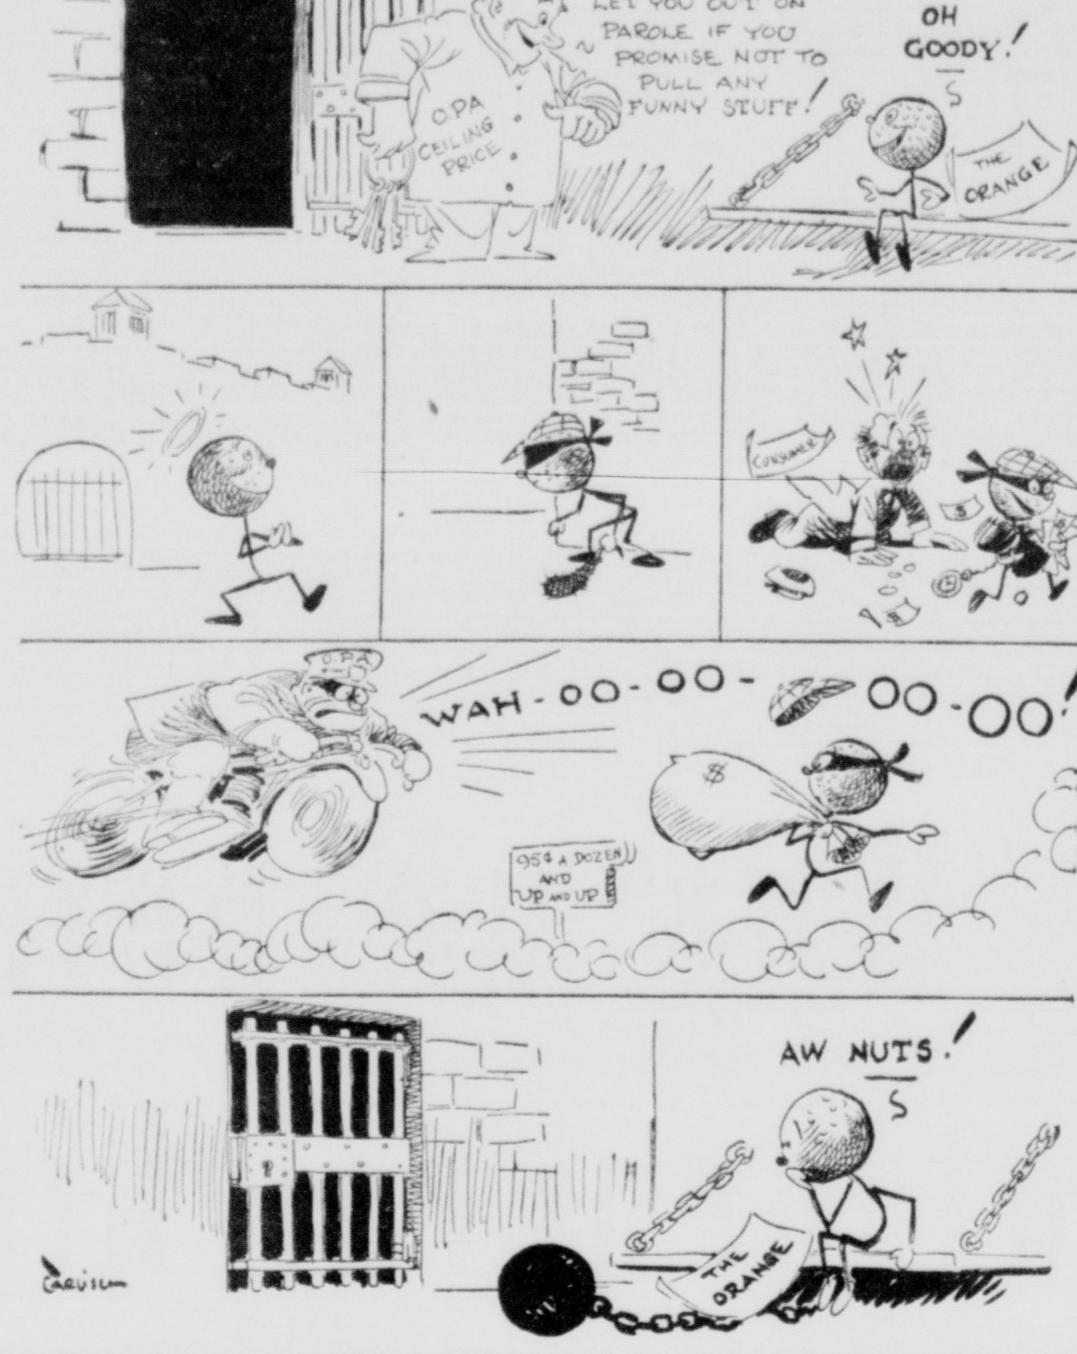

However, Townsend will now be their candidate—thanks to Harry Truman. For the president has just appointed Townsend as alternate United States delegate to the United Nations. This automatically takes away the taint of isolation, elevates him to a position of prominence, and remakes his political future.

It was the most crushing blow faithful Jim Tunnell could have received.

At first, politicians blamed Secretary Byrnes for the appointment. He however, had nothing to do with it. Then they blamed Townsend's son-in-law, Prew Savoy, who was among the group which helped invite Truman to the Jefferson Island party last summer. Replied Savoy:

"I only wish I could plead guilty. It would put me in right with my father-in-law."

Now, however, President Truman has confessed that he did the job

CRIME DOES NOT PAYTHE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND*Truman Forgets Senate Days when He Got Kicked in Pants, Pearson Asserts

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—When President Harry Truman was Sen. Harry Truman, he sometimes entered the Senate chamber and sat down at his desk grumbling.

"Just got another kick in the pants from the White House," he would tell colleagues. "They've appointed another Stark man to a good job," "Stark man" referred to supporters of Gov. Lloyd Stark, leader of an anti-Truman Democratic faction in Missouri.

Today, however, senators wish that the ex-senator from Missouri had a better memory and would think back to those by-gone days. One senator who especially wishes it is Jim Tunnell, of Delaware, who has just received the most resounding kick in the pants recently given by the White House to any alleged friend.

Sen. Tunnell has been one of the most loyal of all the Roosevelt-Truman supporters. He has slaved night and day for their program. He is one senator who can be absolutely depended upon. Partly because of his loyalty he faces a difficult re-election fight this fall, with the duPont Republicans preparing to put a "tough" candidate in the field against him.

Though no money was available, they finally went to the Bureau of the Budget and squeezed out enough cash money to hire new congressional personnel. Already they have started flying supplies to Europe to set up special offices to screen refugees and give them visas.

Old-line diplomats are leaning back in amazement. They have never seen so much speed before.

Does Britain Agency Slant News?

Last week the State department and Reuters, the British news agency, engaged in a controversy as to whether or not Reuters slanted its news to favor British interests. It was the most crushing blow faithful Jim Tunnell could have received.

At first, politicians blamed Secretary Byrnes for the appointment. He however, had nothing to do with it. Then they blamed Townsend's son-in-law, Prew Savoy, who was among the group which helped invite Truman to the Jefferson Island party last summer. Replied Savoy:

not give the reasoning behind the proposed recommendation that nineteen and one-half cents an hour increase be paid nor does it say why in the same report it also speaks approvingly of only a sixteen-cent increase.

Why were the two figures used? Is it perhaps that the sixteen-cent increase is a minimum and nineteen and one-half cents is a maximum and that the board was trying, clumsily enough, to indicate a range within which collective bargaining might be resumed? Clearly the union isn't going to pay any attention to the sixteen-cent figure and will base its acceptance on the nineteen and one-half cent figure.

Steel Costs Not Considered

The auto company will have to decide whether the new prices in steel constitute a factor which wasn't taken into consideration at all by the "fact-finding" board. When it is realized that steel is an important item in the cost of making an automobile and that at the very time the board in the General Motors case was sitting, the O.P.A. at the direction of the president, was preparing to impose a higher cost for steel on the auto industry, it begins to look as if all the facts were not gathered by the three-man board in the General Motors case and that a different situation will be presented when the steel prices are finally determined.

The "fact-finding" board didn't publish any new evidence or reveal any new ideas. It simply took the wavering philosophy expressed in President Truman's recent speech and, in effect, said that if the company worked its men a fraction of an hour overtime or even more than that because of big demand for production, the workers would get as much, if not more, "take-home" pay than they had during the war. This would be a complete victory for the union.

Price of Straddling

If, on the other hand, says the board, the work hours turn out to be less than forty, there might not be as much "take-home" pay. This is a brilliant piece of straddling and reveals clearly that the "fact-finding" board doesn't know much about the production schedules or the planning of the General Motors company. Certainly no government board can learn the motorcar business in thirty days or attempt to issue any persuasive report as to what could happen to work hours in so complicated a mechanism as the one that puts out General Motors vehicles.

The three men no doubt tried hard to find a formula but, when they announced their recommendations, they didn't tell what yardstick they had used. They did say that they believed General Motors could meet the situation and that it was a company which had been successful and probably would be such vague generalities do not constitute a "fact-finding." They are mere expressions of opinion which make little headway because the economic reasoning or the factual background behind the report are not open to inspection by the public.

Significant Omission

It is significant that the board does not say it needed any information from the General Motors books. It says it got all the data it needed. The board would have liked General Motors to stay in the proceedings, doubtless, to allow the union lawyers to cross-examine the company officials—a circumstance which the company probably wished to avoid because it did not want to give the union or its competitors details as to how it plans its schedules or production programs. This is regarded as the province wholly of management.

The board's conclusion says that the nineteen and one-half-cents-an-hour recommendation is "fair and consistent with the public interest in the maintenance of a stabilized economy." This is a very broad observation and amounts to a dogmatic assertion that "fact-finding" boards are to be governed by the undefined term "stabilized economy" which could conceivably mean anything—a government board, an union spokesman, or a company official might interpret it to mean.

In rejecting the "fact-finding" board's proposals, General Motors interpreted a "stabilized economy" to mean a competitive economy. To do a good intelligence job you have to get congressional funds and you can't always tell Congress publicly how you are spending undercover money. The FBI, far more than the State Department, has the public confidence and can get the appropriations. Furthermore, the State Department should not be put in a position where it must pour oil on diplomatic waters and at the same time stir them up by planting secret agents inside foreign countries. The FBI should get the information on its own and then hand it over to the State department.

However, certain ambitious gentlemen, transferred from the army to diplomacy, think otherwise. Result is one of the hottest battles of the bureaus raging backstage in Washington.

It was a great shock to us to learn that such details of business were disclosed in Tokyo, and as we are certain that this would cause a great deal of difficulty in various points if published in the papers, we tried hard to persuade Reuter not to publish same. They first insisted that they always maintained a neutral attitude as regards the handling of news and they were not in a position to create or ignore any news in the interests of the parties concerned.

We stated that their information was incorrect. Fortunately we could insist that their news was actually incorrect although in minor points. Finally with the kind assistance of M. Hasagawa, the head of the Domei news agency here, Reuter agreed to kill this news so far as they were concerned.

We immediately arranged with Mitsui that they would take a similar attitude if approached by Reuter, and in fact, Mitsui were later asked a like question by Reuter, which they handled accordingly. Our Mr. Kawamura and Mr. Matsumoto, manager of Mitsui, jointly invited Mr. May, commercial editor of Reuter, and Mr. Hasagawa to lunch on the twelfth when a friendly discussion took place and Mr. May fully appreciated our position and agreed that he would first refer to us whenever he received important news on business with Japan, not only salmon but other commodities.

For the report made in the General Motors case is full of contradictions and does not come to grips with the real issues. It does

Profit-Sharing
Works but Men Must Co-operate

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

If the United Automobile Workers want to share in General Motors profits, the answer is simple. They could use the $47,000,000 this strike has so far cost them to buy General Motors stock. And then work to earn profits to divide. This would give wages and dividends to men, cars to buyers, profits to owners and prosperity to America. Or, the men, individually, could buy stock.

There is just no obstacle whatever to profit-sharing on a voluntary basis. If men co-operate to make it succeed. But using police power to force a "cut" is an idea Reuther must have picked up in Russia where he studied communism for over a year.

Many companies and their men share profits—for example, Nunn-Bush Shoe at St. Louis and Lincoln Electric at Cleveland. It is one thing, however, when workers earn profits by better work and by stopping waste, loafing and strikes. But call it something else when men sabotage production by slow downs, wild cats, vilification of management, and by asking the public to boycott what their factory makes.

For example, since Ford agreed to a closed shop and checkoff, he states there have been 713 unauthorized strikes which reduced production and profits.

OFFICERS OF TWO STATES CARRY DORNON CASKET

Law Enforcement Officers Gather To Pay Respects to Chief Dornon

Funeral Services for Chief of Police Are Held at Piedmont

By JAMES B. CRAIG

PIEDMONT, W. Va., Jan. 13—Law enforcement officers from two states served as pallbearers at the funeral of Charles E. Dornon, veteran Piedmont police chief, yesterday. Chief Dornon died Wednesday night following a struggle with two ex-servicemen who allegedly resisted arrest.

P. R. Karrickoff and Trooper L. E. Proudfit, West Virginia State Police; Chief Claude Martin, Edgel Rotruck, Harry Wertman, Lawrence Keyser, Gladstone Alamong, Mason Stanhagen and Abbie Dawmon, all of the Keyser police force; Mayor John Freeland, F. G. Davis, Sheriff of Mineral county, James A. Dixon, sheriff of Mineral county, and Police Chief Burza Hanlin, Westport,

There have been over 1,000 people here at the house since he died to see him and 300 of them were children. Members of one family at Cross, W. Va., who had been befriended by the father, walked twelve miles to pay their respects to him. And the colored people have been in to pay their respects to him as well as the white people.

Chief Dornon was born at Blaine, W. Va., and came to Piedmont in 1913. Mr. and Mrs. Dornon were married forty years ago and lived in Thomas for a while immediately after their marriage. Chief Dornon's favorite sports were hunting and fishing and his sons said that he had hunted and fished in most every section of West Virginia at one time or another.

Surviving him besides his wife and mother, are a sister, Mrs. Celia Kaylor, Cumberland, and five children. Mrs. Lambert Fick, Mrs. B. H. Rhail and Paul Dornon, all of Baltimore; Elwood G. Dornon, Romney; and Charles Fuller Dornon, at home.

"He was a good chief," Chaney told the reporter. The officer motioned a car to drive past and then added quietly, "It hit my hard."

Inside, Chief Dornon's home was already well-filled twenty minutes before funeral time. Persons seated on the straight-backed chairs provided by undertakers commented approvingly of the flowers, bank upon bank, arranged tastefully about the chief's casket.

One man leaned toward another beside him and said in an undertone, "You know it's not going to seem natural not to see Chaney coming down the street with that cigar in his mouth, joking and carrying on the way he did." The other man nodded.

The Rev. Philip Cory officiates

Charles, the youngest child just returned home after serving in European theater of operations for the last thirty-two months.

Miss Elizabeth Albanese, Verona, N. J., cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid and Sgt. John DiUbaldo, Luke, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Miss Mary Coury, Westport, sang "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother." The organ accompaniment was played by Mrs. Mary Ord, Westport, who also played the wedding march.

The bride was attired in a white satin wedding gown, with a sweet heart neckline, fitted bodice and skirt of white bridal illusion with tiny-pointed sleeves. A finger-tip veil hung from a crown of pearls.

She carried a white prayer book with a white orchid marker and a shower of white ribbon.

Miss Albanese wore a dress of pale pink chiffon made on similar lines as the bride's and her headpiece was an ostrich feather with pale pink chiffon streamers. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the rooms of the Sons of Italy, Second street, Piedmont.

The bride is a graduate of St. Peter's high school, Westport, and assists in her grandfather's store.

Mr. DiUbaldo is a graduate of Bruce high school, Westport, and has been discharged from the army. He has the Silver Star medal for heroism in Germany, the Purple Heart, the European-African Middle East service ribbon, American theater ribbon, World War II Victory ribbon and Good Conduct medal.

Law Enforcement Officers Gather To Pay Respects to Chief Dornon

Funeral Services for Chief of Police Are Held at Piedmont

By JAMES B. CRAIG

PIEDMONT, W. Va., Jan. 13—Law enforcement officers of two states gathered yesterday at 168 West Fairview street, Piedmont, to pay final respects to their fellow officer, Chief Charles E. Dornon, 62, who died Wednesday night following a struggle with two former servicemen, who allegedly resisted arrest that culminated his career of about thirty years as a police officer.

In front of the Dornon home, a reporter encountered Officer Robert L. Chaney, who served under Chief Dornon, engaged in directing the heavy funeral traffic. It was a raw cold day in Piedmont and Officer Chaney looked cold.

"He was a good chief," Chaney told the reporter. The officer motioned a car to drive past and then added quietly, "It hit me hard."

Inside, Chief Dornon's home was already well-filled twenty minutes before funeral time. Persons seated on the straight-backed chairs provided by undertakers commented approvingly of the flowers, bank upon bank, arranged tastefully about the chief's casket.

One man leaned toward another beside him and said in an undertone, "You know it's not going to seem natural not to see Charlie coming down the street with that cigar in his mouth, joking and carrying on the way he did." The other man nodded.

The Rev. Philip Cory, pastor of the Presbyterian church, opened the service with a prayer and then read some passages from the Scripture providing words of comfort for the family.

A musical program will be presented at the meeting, and refreshments will be served. Units in the Mountain district include those of Lonaconing, Cumberland, Westernport, Frostburg, Mt. Savage, and Kittanning.

The unit, through the child welfare chairman, Mrs. Christina Spilker, is sponsoring the campaign here.

It was stated that the unit is assisting James P. Love post in a campaign to collect clothing for overseas war relief, with a quota of 5,000 garments to be collected in Lonaconing, Pekin, Gilmore, and Mt. Savage.

Mrs. Anne Sloan, representing the post, and Mrs. Mary Scott, of the Lonaconing auxiliary, visited Central high school and Rockville Jackson and Detmold elementary schools last week to ask for the cooperation of pupils, teachers and parent-teacher associations during the drive.

On a date to be announced later, clothing will be collected in the Lonaconing area.

VFW Meeting Planned

A special meeting for all overseas veterans interested in organizing a Veterans of Foreign Wars post in Lonaconing will be held tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the Dahlgren restaurant, Jackson street.

All eligible veterans are urged to attend the meeting which has been called to obtain additional charter members. The post will include veterans from Barton, Pekin, Gilmore and Midland as well as residents of Lonaconing. Commander Alex Gardner will preside.

Ohio State in first place at 4-0. Northwestern and Minnesota both are unbeaten in two league tilts.

RAMS LEAVE CLEVELAND

Yesterday the National league's champion—Cleveland Rams transferred to Los Angeles and to day the moguls agreed that games of the Rams' and the coast loop's Los Angeles Bulldogs would not conflict. Under the plan the Bulldogs would continue to play on Sundays when the Rams are not scheduled for home appearances. Thus the Bulldogs would be playing in direct competition with the All-American's Los Angeles club provided both the Rams and All-American entry are permitted to use the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Agreement on the territorial rights at a huddle between the National leaguers and J. Rufe Williams, the coast loop president, followed yesterday's generally favorable reaction to formation of an organization patterned after baseball's national association of professional Leagues. It would include, in addition to the National and Pacific Coast leagues, the Dixie league of the South and the American Association which has clubs in the New York and New Jersey area.

The National league club owners guaranteed the coast loop's territorial rights in California, Washington, Oregon, Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico, Utah, Idaho and Colorado. The prime rights included San Francisco where the All-American also has a club in opposition to the coast loop team. Thus it was pointed out, if at some future time, a San Francisco club should be brought into the National league, it would be the coast circuit's entry.

Following up their previously planned policy of not revealing to their rival All-America Conference any information they would consider helpful, the National league club owners decided they would not make any formal announcement of the complete schedule for 1946 or of the graduating college players they drafted at this meeting.

Playing Dates Are Secret

Instead, when they complete their schedule which now appears to be almost an all-night job, they will reveal only the opponents to be played by each team next season, but will not announce playing dates for the games. The season probably will open September 29 and close the first Sunday in December.

Records Below Include the LaSalle-St. Francis Game Played Yesterday in Loretto, Pa.

Football Rules Revised by NCAA

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 13 (P)—A new offensive formation may result from changes in the college football rule book made today by the National Collegiate Athletic Association's football rules committee.

One revision provides that the quarterback "under center" with his hands in a position to receive the ball is in a legal position even though less than a yard behind the line of scrimmage when the ball is passed.

Previously the quarterback had to either receive the ball or withdraw his hands to a point a yard behind the line of scrimmage—a giveaway.

The rule change, adding deception to the game, aids the T-formation and the single wing, committee members said, and may result in a new "T-wing" formation.

At the close of a three-day meeting of the committee, Birmingham also announced these changes:

1. On an illegal pass, by either team, the penalty is five yards from the spot of the pass, and also involves the loss of a down if made by the team which put the ball in play by scrimmaging. The rule formerly provided that in the case of an illegal pass, the ball was brought back to where it originally was put in play, for the penalty.

2. The number of time-outs in each half has been increased from three to four but when the watch is stopped a substitution from the bench only sufficient time to complete the substitution will be allowed.

3. The size of the numerals is increased from six to eight inches on the front of the player's jersey and from eight to ten inches on the back.

4. The penalty for a foul committed on a kicked ball, when the foul occurs after the ball has crossed the line of scrimmage and before it has been touched by the receiving team, is made from where the ball was put in play. This removed an "unduly severe" penalty under which the ball went to the offending team at the spot of the foul.

5. The principal speaker was Prof. Lloyd H. Hinke, superintendent of Bedford (Pa.) county schools, and his subject was "Sportsmanship."

Other speakers included Mayor S. Post, Robert Moses "Lefty" Gross, former major league pitcher and Carl Dickey, league secretary.

William A. Gunter, local attorney, was toastmaster.

An invocation was delivered by Rev. George F. Baumgartner, pastor of the First Methodist church, and music was provided by Martha's Melody Makers.

John V. Kanka, driver of the truck, said he decided it would be faster to bring the fire to the firemen rather than wait for firemen to come to the fire.

Tavern Bell Rings Again on Cathedral

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—A small brass bell, silent for more than fifty years, has been reconditioned and is ringing again from the belfry of Assumption cathedral here.

The bell was brought here in 1830 for a tavern and summoned thirsty travelers for many years. It was given to Father Anthony Deydier, first Catholic priest stationed here around 1842 and was placed in the belfry of the Church of the Assumption Cathedral in 1874.

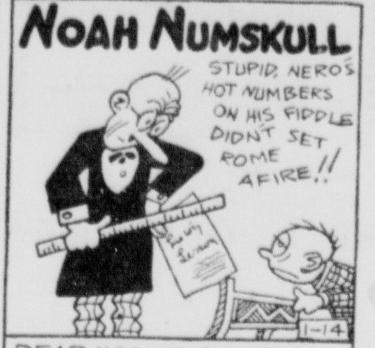

No one recalls why the cathedral had stopped using the bell.

Mountain Comes To Mohammed

TRENTON, N. J. (AP)—The boys at the local White Horse Fire company were arguing about "the biggest fire I ever went to" when suddenly a truck, loaded with blazing furniture, screeched to a stop in front of the startled fire-eaters.

The boys collected their wits and their extinguishers and soon had the blaze under control.

John V. Kanka, driver of the truck, said he decided it would be faster to bring the fire to the firemen rather than wait for firemen to come to the fire.

Tavern Bell Rings Again on Cathedral

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—A small brass bell, silent for more than fifty years, has been reconditioned and is ringing again from the belfry of Assumption cathedral here.

The bell was brought here in 1820 for a tavern and summoned thirsty travelers for many years. It was given to Father Anthony Dwyer, first Catholic priest stationed here, around 1842 and was placed in the belfry of the Church of the Assumption. It was hung in Assumption Cathedral in 1874.

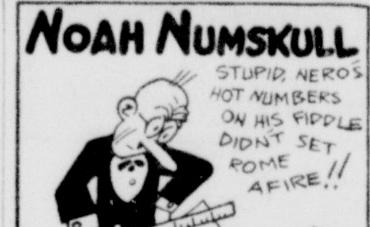

No one recalls why the cathedral had stopped using the bell.

Municipal Farm Pays Dividends

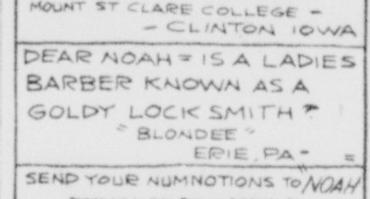

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Acquired by the city fifteen years ago as the site for a sewage disposal plant, thirty-six acres on North Moore Road is now a profitable municipal farm.

Commissioner Frank Brown of the streets and sewers department turned the acreage into a farm after the depression cut deeply into the city's funds and prevented completion of the sewage plant.

West Virginians Held In Death of Railroader

William Davisson, Howard Cumberland Clothing Dawson Are Accused of Murdering Floyd Hebb, Cumberland, in July

Two West Virginians, one a former soldier, were arrested on charges of murder Saturday in the death of a Cumberland railroad man last August 8 who died on the witness stand after being beaten and robbed on July 30.

William G. Davisson, 26, Independence, W. Va., and Howard Dawson, 27, Keyser, a former soldier, were taken into custody Saturday by Prosecuting Attorney Vernon E. Rankin of Mineral county, and West Virginia State police, and formally charged with the death of Floyd N. Hebb, 59, 215 Virginia avenue, as the result of a beating received July 30.

Davison and Dawson were not indicted by the October grand jury in Mineral county and were not held under bond after a preliminary hearing when Hebb collapsed in the witness chair after identifying both Davison and Dawson.

Unearths New Evidence

Rankin said last night that he had unearthed new evidence to prove that Dawson and Davison robbed and beat Hebb the night of July 30. He said he swore out warrants charging them with murder last Friday, arrested them Saturday, and intended to present the case to the grand jury which convenes tomorrow.

Rankin expressed every confidence that he would have the two men indicted. He said that Davisson and Dawson had been in Hebb's company prior to the assault at the rear of Bright's garage, Patrick street, Keyser, July 30, and that the two men knew that Hebb had a considerable sum of money on his person.

"We know that Hebb had at least $375 just before he was beaten and he didn't have it when he was discovered," Rankin said. "In addition, we have other evidence which will be presented at the proper time."

Surprised, Rankin Says

Both men were completely surprised when picked up Saturday. Rankin said, "He and Trooper L. E. Pendleton drove to Newburg, near Independence, where they arrested Davisson. Rankin then called Trooper R. R. Karrickoff in Keyser who then proceeded to arrest Dawson."

Asked if law enforcement officers had determined if either Dawson or Davison had disposed of any of the cash believed to have been taken from Hebb's person, Rankin replied, "We know about some of it, but would not comment further."

Asked if authorities had determined what instrument, if any, Hebb had been struck by, Rankin said, "It has been determined that Hebb was struck from the rear by some blunt instrument."

At the hearing last August 8, Hebb identified both Dawson and Davison as the persons who assaulted and robbed him before he collapsed in the witness box in the Mineral county court. Hebb also testified that Davisson was the man who struck the blow which caused him to lose consciousness, authorities reported.

Badly Beaten When Found

Rankin said Hebb was discovered walking on the B. and O. tracks following his beating, while the National Limited was at the Keyser station. Witnesses said that Hebb was "badly beaten" and staggering when discovered.

Meanwhile, the Mineral county prosecutor said there was "nothing new" as yet concerning the case of Harry Cooper, 55, 26 Paxton street, who died Friday in the Naval hospital at Bethesda where he was taken after being injured in a Piedmont pool room over the Christmas holidays. Rankin questioned Tony Smith, Cooper's alleged assailant, Friday, with Smith admitting that he struck Cooper with his fist in an argument over a bet, the prosecutor said.

The investigation of the case is continuing, Rankin said, although progress has been held up due to the arrests of Dawson and Davison Saturday.

Dominic Arnold, 67, Cresaptown, was admitted to Allegany hospital Saturday at 8 p. m. for treatment of a possible fracture of the right leg. He told attaches he was injured in Cresaptown when he was struck by a car driven by Elwood Kight. X-rays will be taken to determine the extent of injury, attaches added.

FIND OCTOPUSES NEAR THOMAS.—Five youths from the Thomas, W. Va., section are shown above with two octopuses they found in the Black water river, near Thomas, last week. L. H. Taylor, zoology professor at West Virginia university, said yesterday that undoubtedly the creatures look like octopuses but added that they must have been dead in the first place. He flatly stated that it is a scientific fact such animals do not live in fresh water and opined that the swift current might have made it seem that the creatures were alive. At any rate, Donald White and Prentiss Liller shot one and beat another. Shown in the picture (left to right) are James Largent, James LaMonte, Donald White, Thomas Pase and Prentiss Liller. The octopus stretched out was beaten to death. The other one curled up after being put in formaldehyde but originally was much larger than the one on the left.

Buckmaster To Attend

Among those who will attend Saturday's conference will be L. S. Buckmaster, URWA president; Harvey V. Brown, District 1, URWA field representative, officers of Local 26 and the Kelly company and Paul W. Fuller, commissioner of codification for the rubber industry, who negotiated the settlement of the recent strike.

Beard explained the members of the union resumed work upon the understanding that negotiations would continue on the difference between the company offer and the demands of the union for earnings comparable to those in other tire plants of the rubber industry.

A spokesman for the Kelly company last evening asserted the offer of the company November 29 and effective as of November 27 was the final settlement of the wage dispute.

Delegates Offer Final

The company, he explained, informed the union of the offer and explained that the increase was all that it could make.

Company representatives, the spokesman added, notified the federal conciliator to that effect and he passed on the information to the union in the company's presence.

Kelly officials added that Fuller is coming here "to clarify the settlement of the strike."

The Local 26, URWA, official declared the men returned to work upon the understanding that negotiations would continue on the difference between the company's offer and the demands of the union for earnings comparable to other tire plants of the rubber industry.

The seven-point program was called to the company's attention at an earlier date, but negotiations on the program were not requested until December 7, Beard said.

The company refused, the union official said, to negotiate on this program and on December 12, on the basis of the company's refusal to negotiate, the local petitioned the NLRB to conduct a strike vote.

Plans for that vote were dropped as a result of congressional action and the union laid plans on January 6 for yesterday's strike vote.

Will Complete Vote

Local officials said the strike vote now being taken is to employ the officers of the local to take action, if necessary, in enforcing the demands for the seven-point plan.

Ballooning will be scheduled for a twenty-four hour period Wednesday so that members of several departments, including curing and final finish, who worked yesterday may have a chance to vote on the question, Beard said.

Union officials said members present at yesterday's meeting voted to concur with the executive action on a temporary $1 monthly assessment until October 1, 1946. Balloting on this proposal will be completed at the same time the strike vote is concluded, Beard explained.

Bus Employees And Company To Meet Today

James H. Morrison, president of the drivers' union of the Potomac Edison Company, said last night that he was hopeful that the meeting today at 10:30 o'clock between representatives of the union and management would result in an agreement.

"An agreement should be reached today and I think can be," Morrison said. "Failing, there will be only one thing to do."

A strike vote by the union last Friday resulted in eighty per cent of the local members casting ballots authorizing their representatives to call a strike in the event all attempts to reach a wage agreement fail.

Morrison said the earliest time for a strike would be Wednesday and he again stated that the public would be informed in ample time of pending action by the union.

The union president said the mayor and city council, the United States Conciliation Service and the company have been notified of the union's stand.

In addition to taking a strike vote Friday, the union rejected a company proposal for settlement. The company's turned down offer included:

A wage increase of five cents an hour retroactive to November 1 and overtime pay at the rate of time and one-half for all hours worked over 200 per month with a guarantee of 214 hours. Drivers are paid eighty-seven cents an hour now.

Shop men were offered an increase of five cents with a three cent differential for the second shift and a five cent differential for the third shift. The top rate currently is ninety-five cents an hour.

The union is seeking a rate of $1.10 an hour.

Capper Announces He Plans To Seek Election as Judge

Associate Judge Walter C. Capper Saturday made formal announcement that he would seek election to the associate judgeship of the Court judicial circuit and file as a candidate in the primaries June 24.

Judge Capper, a Republican, was appointed by Gov. Herbert R. O'Connor to the post vacated by Chief Judge D. Lindley Sloan in April, 1944, when Judge Sloan reached the retirement age of 70.

He served as a member of the court of appeals throughout the April and October terms of the state's highest court, in addition to being chief judge of the Fourth judicial circuit.

Commander James Wilt, who presided at yesterday's meeting, was named chairman of the pre-convention meeting. The five Amvet posts in the state include those in Cumberland, Baltimore, Hagerstown, Grantsville and La Plata.

Brace Mackert and Brode gave reports on their trip to Washington January 5 to make arrangements for establishing an active state department, the purpose of which will be to organize new Amvet posts in Maryland.

No Formal Statement

Gov. O'Connor then appointed Capper to be associate judge of the circuit in January, 1945, to serve until the November election this year. He has presided at court sessions here and in Oakland and Hagerstown during the past year.

Judge Capper said Saturday that he would not issue any formal statement at this time. His entry into the contest will mark the first time he has campaigned for public office since he entered the practice of law in 1906.

Henderson is Candidate

Col. George Henderson, former mayor of Cumberland, announced last October 6 that he would be a candidate for the court post this year. Son of the late Judge Robert R. Henderson, he is a former chairman of the Republican State Central Committee and gave up that post when he was called to active military duty December 1, 1940. After serving sixteen months with the Twenty-ninth infantry division in this country, he was with the Third Service Command until he was named commandant of cadets at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Blacksburg, Va., about two years ago.
